The first of these is the fact that the system is not a simple one, but a complex one, involving many factors which are not yet fully understood.
 The second is that the system is not a static one, but a dynamic one, which is constantly changing and evolving. The third is that the system is not a closed one, but an open one, which is constantly interacting with the environment.
 The fourth is that the system is not a linear one, but a non-linear one, which is characterized by feedback loops and other non-linearities.
 The fifth is that the system is not a deterministic one, but a stochastic one, which is characterized by random fluctuations and noise.
 The sixth is that the system is not a simple one, but a complex one, which is characterized by many interacting components and a high degree of complexity.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a historical document or manuscript. The text is written in a dark ink on aged, slightly discolored paper. It consists of several lines of text, with some words and phrases appearing to be in a different language or dialect than the surrounding text. The script is fluid and characteristic of the early modern period. There are some small, dark circular marks or ink blots scattered throughout the text, possibly due to the age of the document or the writing process. The overall appearance is that of a well-preserved but aged historical record.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, continuing from the top page. The text is written in a dark ink on aged, slightly discolored paper. It consists of several lines of text, with some words and phrases appearing to be in a different language or dialect than the surrounding text. The script is fluid and characteristic of the early modern period. There are some small, dark circular marks or ink blots scattered throughout the text, possibly due to the age of the document or the writing process. The overall appearance is that of a well-preserved but aged historical record.
